

IV TAAS Catamarca, Argentina

SECOND ANNOUNCEMENT

The Organizing Commission for the 4th International Meeting of Archaeological Theory in South America announces that you can now consult about the event on the web page, there you will find the necessary information, the address: <http://www.unca.edu.ar/arqueologia>

We invite all people interested in participating in the meeting to fill the pre-inscription form which appears there.

You will find a list of symposia open to the reception of papers; the list is being updated as soon as the proposals are accepted at a first instance. Those interested in suggesting some papers in any of the symposia that are included in the lists, can do it straight to the convenors whose contact data are available within the page.

We will continue receiving symposium proposals till 30th October. Those proposals will be taken into account according to the capacity of the congress. That is why we request you that if you have not yet sent your proposal, but you intend to, please do it as soon as possible. The convenors will receive paper proposals till the deadline, so the symposia presented around that date should be accompanied with their corresponding papers.

The World Archaeological Congress (WAC) has decided that the meeting will also be Inter-Congress on Archaeological Theory; this implies a considerable enlargement in participation.

The National Agency of Scientific and Technological Development is also committed through their support.

We have received more than 20 symposium proposals and quite an amount of paper proposals.

From all countries in the continent and out, people are writing their proposals and asking for information. We are grateful for the interest the initiative has caused upon you all and for the joint mentoring with the preparation of the Meeting. From now onwards, communications will be done through the web, we are constantly updating our page. You will find there contact addresses, pre-inscription forms, proposals, as well as a forum to write comments and open proposals.

We hope we will also be in contact for the Meeting preparation.
