4. Presentation of Absolute Dating

a)

The journal adopts the rules contained in the proposal on reference radiocarbon dates approved at the 1st Congress of Peninsular Archeology (Porto: Society of Anthropology and Ethnology, 1995. v. 6. (Anthropology and Ethnology Works, 35: 2)

Ex:

Provenance	Context	Kind of Sample	BP dating	Cal B C (2 sigma)	Bibliography
------------	---------	----------------	-----------	-------------------	--------------

It was adopted:
In citing dates resulting from the application of other methods, the same elements required for reference radiocarbon dates (laboratory, date of occurrence, date obtained and margins of error) should be indicated, followed by the acronyms that usually identify the respective method (TL, U / Th, etc.). In these cases, where the equivalence convention BP = 1950 is not followed and the distinction between "conventional dates" and "actual dates" is not used or does not make sense either, they should be referred to calendar years according to the traditional Portuguese system : BC (before Christ), AD (after Christ)

c)

It was adopted:
The reference to chronological quantities (eg, III millennium, 4th century, 3rd quarter of the second century, etc.), not expressly reported to any specific date of radiocarbon, as identified, or those that perform the synthesis of dates obtained by methods different, will follow the traditional Portuguese system: BC (before Christ) and AD (after Christ)

It was adopted:
In general, it is strongly advised, when technically possible, to use the traditional Portuguese reference system (aC / dC), assuming that it necessarily corresponds to actual calendar dates and therefore requires, in the case of dates calibration of the conventional dates obtained
