

EURO Distinguished Service Medal Award 2016

The EURO Distinguished Service Medal Award (EDSM) is recognition of distinguished service to the Association of European Operational Research Societies (EURO) and to the profession of Operational Research. The award will be officially bestowed at the opening plenary session of the 28th European Conference on Operational Research in Poznań, if there is a suitable candidate.

Eligibility

The EDSM 2016 will be given to an individual who has served the European OR community and the profession effectively for many years. No currently active officer of EURO (Executive Committee member, EDSM 2016 jury member, Organising and Programme Committee Chairpersons of the EURO 2016 Conference) is eligible.

Award

The laureate will receive an award, a diploma, and will be invited to all future EURO-k Conferences without payment of the registration fees.

Selection process

The national member societies of EURO, the EURO Working Groups, the previous EDSM Award laureates and previous EDSM jury chairs are kindly invited to send nominations for possible award recipients to the EDSM jury by the deadline indicated below. Please enclose, if possible, a CV or an equivalent document. Nominations must be made in confidence (i.e. the nominee should not be informed).

The jury will evaluate the proposed candidates essentially on basis of their distinguished services to EURO and to the profession of Operational Research.

Jury

The members of the EDSM 2016 jury are:

- Valerie Belton (UK) - chair
- Ulrike Leopold-Wildburger (Austria)
- Roman Słowiński (Poland)
- Luka Neralic (Croatia)
- Jacques Teghem (Belgium)

Deadlines

The deadline for submitting nominations is January 31, 2016. The decision of the jury will be publicly announced at the EURO 2016 Conference.

Contact

*Professor. Valerie Belton. Department of Management Science, Univeristy of Strathclyde Business School
199 Cathedral Street, Glasgow G4 0QU, Scotland, UK
Email: val.belton@strath.ac.uk*