Continuing the Imagery Studies Programme that we are developing in the Centre for History of the University of Lisbon, we are launching a new Research Project with a duration of two years, 2021 and 2022, called Imagery of Visible and Invisible Societies: Counter-powers and Marginalities, of an interinstitutional, international and interdisciplinary dimension.

We are continuing to focus on an epistemological reflection and on new methods that pave the way for research carried out by researchers of all levels and fields of knowledge related to History. We wish to deepen our understanding of individual and collective awareness, social relations, our relationship with nature and with the transcendent, by focusing on the individual in the social and cultural multidimension of its identity.

As a subtopic related to current day matters, it was considered pertinent to study the internal dynamics, tensions and problems of societies which are suffering from both internal and external pressure, exposing Blake holes, regardless of whether such black holes become counter-powers or marginalities or not.

The International Conference (by videoconference) resulting from this study that will take place on 15 and 16 November 2021 is therefore entitled Imagery of resistance, considered from the point of view of established powers and cultures and from the perspective of reactions to the established, be they violent or not, open or clandestine.

Once again, in accordance with the Research Programme, the topic of the scientific meeting is cross-cutting in time and appeals to specialists from different fields of knowledge who wish to dialogue with us, also connecting with young researchers, explaining the symbolism by way of texts, images and numbers.

Some topics for the Conference:

- dialectic of powers and counter-powers
- marginalities and resistance
- military occupations, oppositions, resistances
- pandemics and resiliencies
- clandestineness
- peaceful resistance
- right to rebel
- reactions to racism
- quilombos
- resistance to terror
- female resistance
